The Lincoln campus's general education requirements will be used by students starting the computer engineering or electronics engineering on or after the Fall 2011 semester. The general education program is referred to as Achievement Centered Education (ACE). The program has ten Student Learning Outcomes (SLO). All students must take one course in each of the ten SLOs. Detailed information is available on the UNL website at <http://ace.unl.edu/>.

Student Learning Outcomes 1-4 and 10 are satisfied by completing required courses in the computer engineering or electronics engineering program. Students will select courses from an approved course list for SLOs 5, 6, 7, 8 & 9.
